EMPLOYMENT BILL REPORTED BY COMMITTEE

House Takes Step To Speed Emergency Relief Legislation.

$110,000,000 PROVIDED

Hoover Figure Lowered; Loan Fund of $80,000,000 Listed for States.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9—Speeding action on relief legislation, the house received from its appropriations committee today the unemployment emergency construction bill providing $110,000,000 for highway and river and harbor improvements.

The sum of $80,000,000 was stipulated for advance to states for highway construction, so they might go on with building despite inability to meet federal aid obligations. The fund will be returnable over a period of five years where the states cannot meet federal funds on a 50-50 basis.

River and harbor work was allowed $22,500,000; flood control on the Mississippi and its tributaries $5,000,000, roads and trails for national forests $3,000,000 and roads and trails in national parks $1,500,000.

Hoover Figure Reduced

Reporting the bill, the committee reduced President Hoover's requested $150,000,000 lump sum to be allocated by him by $40,000,000 and required that definite allotments be made for use of the $110,000,000.

However, the bill contains a clause providing for the interchangeability of the appropriations so that in event it may be expedient to utilize more funds upon one character of work than another, the President will have authority to make such transfers as will provide the greatest opportunities for furnishing employment.

Another provision requires a report to congress at the beginning of the next session, showing how the funds have been expended.

The $3,000,000 for flood control is to be expended under direction of Major General Brown, chief of army engineers, on levee construction on the Mississippi under the 1928 flood act. About half is to be spent on the upper Mississippi and the remainder on the lower.

Highway Allotments

The highway aid allotments included the following: Indiana, $2,-945,929; Kentucky, $1,504,715; Ohio, $2,998,508. Rivers and harbors works funds included: Ohio river lock and dam construction, $800,-000. Ohio river, open channel improvement, $400,000.

The great lakes division was given $1,157,000 of which $66,000 was apportioned to Lorain harbor

Mrs. Hoover Passes Up Auto Driving Till Spring

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec 9—If Mrs. Hoover drives an automobile in Washington she is liable to be arrested. Her permit expired in October and she hasn't renewed it.

Mrs. Hoover, it was explained at the White House likes driving in the summertime, but as for Washington's icy streets in winter, that is different. So she allowed her permit to expire until next spring when it will be renewed.

The first lady is a skillful driver and especially likes to drive the mountain roads around the president's Rapidan camp.

G. O. P. RIVALS ALL CONFIDENT

Republicans of Ohio Lower House Caucus for Organization.

THREE FOR SPEAKERSHIP

Possibility of Deadlock Ending in Choice of Johnson Is Seen.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 9—Victory cries sounded from rival camps as Republican members of the new Ohio house of representatives gathered today for a showdown in a lively battle for majority leadership.

Three candidates, each radiating confidence, were in the race for speaker of the house. They are Arthur Hamilton of Lebanon, majority leader of the last assembly; Charles H. Jones of Jackson and Earle E. Johnson of Painesville.

Until yesterday the contest appeared to be between Hamilton and Jones, the latter as opponent of alleged "boss control." The bitterness of their fight, however, indicated to outsiders that it might end in a deadlock, leaving Johnson as the possible choice at the caucus, set for 2 p. m.

All Claim Victory

None of the aspirants conceded anything, each claiming enough support to justify prediction of certain victory. Hamilton said he expected to be selected on the first ballot by at least 41 of the 70 votes. Jones and Johnson strongly questioned Hamilton claims, each asserting he had enough pledges to insure his election.

The issue between Jones and Hamilton was the same as resulted in five senators-elect bolting the senate majority caucus last week. The bolters objected to the election of Earl R. Lewis as speaker protem on the ground that he was dominated by the Cooper administration and controlled by "bosses" and "lobbyists." Similar statements were made by Jones in his opposition to Hamilton. The latter countered with assertions that he had made no promises to anyone and sought only harmony in party ranks.

Johnson, an aviation enthusiast, arrived from Painesville in his own airplane last night and immediately got busy lining up votes.

There were only two active candidates for floor leader—Horace S. Keifer of Springfield and William W. Weir of Warren.

PROPOSAL OUTLINED FOR NEW DRY FORCE

Federation with No Church Connection Demanded at Conference.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9—A demand for creation of an all embracing federation of dry forces, divorced from the church to protect prohibition in the 1932 campaigns, was laid before the National Temperance Council today. At another dry meeting the question of a prohibition referendum was revived.

Oliver Stewart, president of the Flying Squadron Foundation, called a dry mobilization pointed toward the next Presidential election. He hit out at the lack of "militant leadership" in the prohibition ranks, contended "the church, as such, has no place in a contest for the election of a President," and even suggested supplanting some dry orgnizations.

Virtually all the 100 delegates he addressed represented either church or temperance societies.

Three blocks away, Dr. Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, laid before the annual meeting of his board the challenge of a referendum. He opened his annual report with a reference to the "great alarm being expressed by some of our timid people in regard to newspaper publicity about referendum."

Scarcely 12 hours before, the Temperance Council behind closed doors had recorded a unanimous standing vote against any such proposal. Dr. Wilson was not present. The resolution adopted said that

Above are a number of prominent grange personages taking part in the state grange convention here this week. They are, top row, left to right: Walter F. Kirk of Port Clinton, state grange master; Mrs. Walter F. Kirk; Joesph W. Fichter of Hamilton, state granger lecturer; lower row, left to right: Vernon E. Crouse of North Lima, lecturer of the deputy masters' association; W. G. Vandenbark of Zanseville, state grange secretary; H. A. Atwood of Garretsville, state grange gatekeeper.

GRANGE work, although requiring most of his time, is not the only branch of economic and governmental activity in which Walter F. Kirk of Port Clinton, state grange master, is active. Kirk's history in public affairs is an interesting one.

In grange work, Kirk was a deputy master, later becoming master of the deputies' association, a position he held six years. For five years he was member of the state grange executive committee and was a member of the legislature in the 1921 and 1923 sessions. He has been closely affiliated with legislative and tax matters since that time, and acted for one year as president of the Ohio Tax association.

Besides state master, he is now member of the Conservation council in the department of agriculture, and member of the board of directors of the Ohio Livestock association.

A BUSY man this week is Joseph W. Fichter of Hamilton, state grange lecturer, who is in charge of 200 lecturers from every county in the state.

Fichter's history in grange work is not as long as that of other prominent grangers, but his responsibility is on a par with most.

He was the first master of Hanover Grange in Butler county. His next forward step was to the office of deputy in the county. He has been lecturer of the Ohio state grange since 1926.

SEVEN GIVEN PRISON TERMS BY JUDGE HERE

SUNSERA SENT TO PEN

Indeterminate Sentences Meted Out to Partners in Burglaries.

A 10-year sentence in the Mansfield reformatory, which may be commuted on good behavior, was meted out to Richard Robinson, 26, of near Brush Ridge by Judge George B. Scofield in common pleas court this morning. He pleaded guilty Saturday to a charge of robbery.

Six other prisoners were sentenced, one was released on probation and trial dates were set for five others. Two other prisoners will be brought before the court this afternoon one to be sentenced and the other to be given a trial date.

Stephen Sunsera who pleaded guilty to three charges of burglary, was given a five-year sentence in the Ohio penitentiary on each of the three, but the sentences are to run concurrently Judge Scofield made the sentence stiff he said, because Sunsera had served time before and had failed to keep out of trouble after his release from the penitentiary.

Kenneth Turner and James Beaver, alleged partners in burglaries in four counties, were given indeterminate sentences in Mansfield after pleading guilty to three charges of burglary. At the end of a year each will be eligible for parole.

Given Two Years

Robert Wilson, colored, was sentenced to serve two years in the Ohio penitentiary on a burglary charge. Jim Sunday, charged with forgery, was given a year in the penitentiary, and Otis Simpson, who pleaded guilty to receiving stolen goods, was given a $50 fine and 30 days in jail.

The court set Dec. 18 as the trial date for Richard Houston of near Brush Ridge, who was implicated with Robinson in the robbery on which the latter was convicted. Houston pleaded not

SCORE OVERCOME BY AMMONIA FUMES

Ambulances Summoned To Rush Victims to Cleveland Hospital.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 9 Twenty persons, many of them unconscious, were rushed to Charity hospital here today suffering from ammonia fumes which escaped from a refrigerating plant in a downtown Cleveland store building. Many of the victims were women.

A call for all available ambulances was issued by firemen, when women began collapsing so rapidly on the street and sidewalks that oxygen inhalators were overtaxed.

The first victims were five employes of the store. They were carried from the building.

The gas escaped while repairmen were working on a pump in a refrigerating plant in the basement of the four-story building occupied by the Chandler & Rudd company, wholesale grocers.

Most of the victims were able to stagger out of the building. Then, gasping for breath, and with smarting eyes, they collapsed in the street.

Most of the stricken recovered consciousness a short time after treatment was given. Oxygen was administered in several of the cases.

Bootleggers Heard in Niles Graft Trial

By The Associated Press

WARREN, O., Dec. 9—Three more professed bootleggers were called by the state today to add their testimony of police graft to the accusations against Edward Kennedy, dismissed Niles police lieutenant.

Two liquor dealers, John Tragresser and Anthony Mollica, opened the state's case yesterday with stories of "protection" money paid to Kennedy and Thomas Mango, reputed "payoff" man, for several years.

Tragresser said Kennedy approached him four years ago and announced that "you will have to pay like all the bootleggers."

GUNMAN RAIDS UPTOWN OFFICE

Robs Cash Drawer While Holding Girl at Point of Gun.

The third holdup here in four days took place on the fifth floor of the Uhler-Phillips Co. building at Center and Prospect streets when a bandit took $47.87 from the office of the Western & Southern Life Insurance Co. The robbery was staged shortly before 1 p. m. today.

G. C. Steward of 952 East Center street, superintendent for the company, had left the office only a few moments when the bandit entered the office and pointed a gun at Miss Dorothy Hite, 18, of 473 Summit street.

On demand, she opened the cash drawer, which he emptied into his pockets. He left some small change. He was masked at the time of the holdup, but apparently abandoned his mask to descend from the fifth floor on the elevator.

Cheerless

(Will Rogers Special)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Dec. 9—We all have what we refer to as the saddest sight we ever saw. Well, mine is this. A cheering section, all organized to cheer, and then nothing comes to cheer over.

It ain't so bad for an individual to have your favorite lose and not be able to holler. You feel bad, but you kinder can keep your grief to yourself.

But when you are sent somewhere en masse for nothing else only to holler, and then you can't, why that is what you would call organized grief. Your wretchedness is so promiscuous. You are even dressed and seated, just to draw attention to your wretchedness.

Brothers, it must be———.

grange lecturers from all parts of the state were the high spots of the morning and afternoon sessions of the convention today.

Kirk pointed to an unequalled record in grange organization work in Ohio during the last year. Touching on a variety of economic and governmental topics, he opposed repeal or modification of prohibition, advocated America's entrance into the World Court, urged the passage of laws to assure adequate representation in congress and the legislature for rural territory.

Convention Under Way.

Kirk's talk was given at 1:30 p. m. today in the Ohio theater after the program of the convention was well under way. The opening business session was held in the Ohio theater this morning, in which various phases of the convention, including committees to act on resolutions, were organized.

The three day convention got under way last night with a public reception in The Star auditorium with 1,000 persons present. An address by Harry A. Caton of Coshocton, secretary of the national grange, featured this program.

Farmer's Future Lies with Himself

The future of American agriculture lies in the farmer himself and in farm organizations such as the grange, declared Harry Caton of Coshocton, national grange secretary, in the principal address at last night's public reception which marked the opening of the state grange convention.

The meeting, held in The Star auditorium, attracted a crowd of approximately 1,000, the finest first-night gathering in the history of the state grange, according to Caton, who has attended state grange conventions for years.

Farming Basic Industry

Farming is the basic industry on whose prosperity the economic stability of the entire country is dependent, the national head asserted. The grange can help make agriculture sound, economically by using its influence on farm legislation, he said.

HOOVER ATTACKS "TREASURY RAIDERS"

Declares Budget Increases Place Unbearable Burden on Government.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9—President Hoover declared today efforts were being made to impose greater financial burdens upon the government than its financial positions would permit.

Prosperity cannot be restored by raids on the public treasury, he warned.

Noting that pending legislation would impose additional burdens of $4,500,000,000 above the sums he asked for in his budget message, he said that budget contained the maximum expenditure that the government could make without increase in taxes.

Any tax increase, he continued, would fall on the farmer and worker.

Mr. Hoover said some organizations were playing politics at the expense of "human misery".

"The American people will not be misled by such tactics," he added.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9—In the face of a presidential rebuke against excessive expenditures for relief of national depression, the senate this afternoon ignored White House advice and enacted a $60,000,000 bill providing feed, seed, fertilizer and food loans to farmers in all drouth stricken or storm ridden areas of the country.

The measure, as passed, carried an authorization $35,000,000 in excess of the president's recommendation. It was enacted under a fire of criticism directed at the president and his secretary of agriculture, Arthur M. Hyde, because of their opposition to loans to farmers for the purchase of food.

SAYS MRS. SHEPARD KILLED BY POISON

Army Physician Testifies in Trial of Major Accused in Wife's Death.

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Dec. 9—Col. Edward B. Vedder, attached to the army medical corps laboratory in Washington, testified at the murder trial of Maj. Charles A. Shepard today that chemical analysis had revealed poison caused the death of the defendant's second wife, Mrs. Zenana Shepard.

Colonel Vedder said he made the analysis of Mrs Shepard's viscera in Washington following her death at Fort Riley, Kas., in June, 1929, in what the government charges was a poison plot carried out by Shepard, an army medical oficer, because of his infatuation for Miss Grace Brandon, 22-year-old stenographer of San Antonio, Tex.

"The final test showed globules of metallic mercury to the amount of two or three grains" Colonel Vedder testified. "Mercury in the body tends to eliminate rapidly, and it is extremely possible that much already had been eliminated. I think she died of mercury poisoning."

GOODYEAR INCREASES WORKING SCHEDULE

Eight-Hour Day, Five-Day Week Operations Resumed at Akron Plant.

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Dec. 9—Increased production at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. factory here was announced today together with resumption of employment on a basis of eight hours a day, five days a week. The number of employes will not be increased at present but nearly all men on the payroll will have full time work. They have been working six-hour shifts, four days a week.

Officials said the lowest production of the plant during depression was 20,000 tires a day, which a decade ago would have been a "high peak." Under the new working schedule, production will be increased to 48,000 tires a day and 55,000 tubes.

Inventories of finished products are in more favorable position than a year ago, and the upturn of production reflects the unexpected revival in demand for replacement tires as indicated by spring dating orders, the company said.

"Abutting landowners assessments on state highways should be discontinued and every effort made to provide for improvement of secondary and township roads.

"The grange has given substantial support to many independent marketing organizations, increasing their efficiency and promoting the whole program of cooperative marketing.

"The Federal Farm board is to be commended for promoting and encouraging farm owned and directed commodity organizations with power to control distribution on a national basis.

"In harmony with action taken by the national grange, it is recommended that the government participate in no development of additional land until such time as the evils of farm surplus have been removed.

"The treaties entered into by the state department of our national government, providing for participation in the World Court with proper reservations, should have the prompt approval of the senate, making it possible for our government to do its full share in the preservation of peace.

Touches Dry Question

"The position of the grange on temperance and law enforcement is well known. The efforts of those who oppose the eighteenth amendment have assumed such proportions as to become alarming. Law enforcement is difficult and frequently unsatisfactory, but nullification and repeal are much worse.

"Conservation should be kept under one head. Policy of the federal government in striving to reduce surplus and at the same time develop new agricultural land furnishes an example of the folly of separating conservation interests.

"To maintain its place as a grange leader among states, Ohio has seen the organization of one new Pomona grange, 19 new subordinate granges, seven subordinate reorganizations, 22 new juvenile granges and seven juvenile grange reorganizations during the last year.

"Nearly 500 granges have qualified for a Kelley picture by initiating a class of candidates, and 86 have qualified as honor granges.

"More than 50 juvenile granges have met the requirements for honor juveniles, with the following as five top-notchers: Belmont in Belmont county, Wolf Creek in Hardin county, Eden in Trumbull county, Wellington in Lorain county, Montville in Medina county.

Win Grange Pins

"Fifty-five patrons are entitled to grange pins for securing 10 or more members.

"The following granges have qualified as winners of flags for having an inspection score of 96, reporting newly elected officers by Dec. 2, and qualifying as honor granges. Northwest in Williams County, Liberty in Champaign county, Adams township in Clinton county, Mifflin in Wyandot county, Terre Haute in Champaign county, and Highland in Muskingum county.

"For the first time in many years two successive perfect state reports have been made to the national secretary.

"In the national safety on the highways contest, the state winners are: Ruth Davis of Union county, Caroline Mallory of Ashtabula county, Adeline Critzer of Champaign county.

"The sixty-fourth annual convention of the national grange was the greatest gathering of farm people ever assembled in the United States with 15,000 farm folk present.

"Cooperation among organizations has been almost as marked as that within the grange. The Ohio Chamber of Commerce, the Ohio Farm Bureau, and other like organizations have frequently joined us in promoting a common interest."

Transfer of Funds Assures Employes' Pay

Transfers of funds assuring payment of salaries of city firemen and policemen to Dec. 15 were made by city council last night. These were among a group of transfers acted on to equalize balances in the funds of city departments and enable a majority of them to meet obligations to Jan. 1.

A total of $1,800 was transferred to the safety fund, from which firemen and policemen are paid. Another transfer was $2,030.60 from the general fund to the service fund, the latter having been virtually "broke" for several weeks.

Fire Destroys Garage, Two Automobiles Here

Fire of unknown origin destroyed a garage and two Ford automobiles at 144 Scioto street Sunday night. Damage was estimated at $175 by Fire Chief T. J. McFarland.

From appearances of the automobiles and the garage, there had apparently been a burglary a short time before the fire began, fire officials said. Caps were found off both gasoline tanks.

GRANGE SIDELIGHTS

Ohio Farmers Exchange Views as Session Opens

A DEMONSTRATION of the advantages of modern transportation figured in the trip made yesterday by B. A. Noble, lecturer of the Ashtabula Grange, from his home to Marion. Noble, so far as is known, is the only person at the convention who used an airplane to make the trip. He traveled from his home to Cleveland in a neighbor's plane, arriving in Cleveland just in time to catch a fast train for Marion. Although he had left home shortly after noon he arrived here just a few minutes after several of his neighbors who had started in an automobile early in the morning.

GRANGE delegates can park wrong, make left-hand or u-turns or otherwise break local traffic ordinances while they are guests of the city, Mayor L. Don Jones promised them last night when he welcomed the convention to the city.

"Don't worry about breaking traffic rules. If you're a grange visitor, it will be all right," he told them.

GOTTLEIB SCHWEITZER of Tuscarawas county is one of the pioneer Grangers in attendance at the convention. Mr. Schweitzer, 84 years old, has been a member of the organization 55 years and has attended numerous conventions. He is a member of Winfield Grange No. 1472. In company with him at the meeting here are his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Schweitzer, with whom he makes his home. They are guests at the home of W. H. Houghton of East Church street. Mr. Houghton is a brother of Mrs. W. H. Schweitzer.

FRED E. GUTHERY, Marion attorney who acted as spokesman for the Chamber of Commerce at the opening reception session of the convention last night, has lived on the farm and in the city and knows conditions in both localities thoroughly. Consequently one opinion expressed by him in his speech carried more than ordinary significance. He said: "Transfer all country people from farms to the city and all city people to the farms and I'll predict that the country folk will easily be the first to solve their new problems and adapt themselves to their new surroundings."

TABLE PROPOSAL

Council Fails To Act on Pennsy Crossing Flashers.

Failing to get a three-fourths vote to suspend rules of procedure and pass the measure to its second reading, an ordinance authorizing the Pennsylvania railroad to install flasher signal lights at five crossings here was literally tabled by council last night.

If regular rules of procedure are followed the ordinance will be given second reading at the next session of council.

Council voted no objection to the proposed installation of lights other than that several crossing watchmen might lose their positions if the lights were installed.

Although W. W. Clarke, supervisor for the Pennsylvania railroad, assured council that installation of the signals would not result in the discharge of watchmen, council did not definitely act on the proposal.

Council Provides for Payment of Assessments

Several persons desirous of paying assessments against their properties for public improvements in one lump payment rather than meet the obligation in semi-annual installments with taxes but who failed to make the payments within the 10-day period after notice allowed by law were benefited last night.

Council authorized the county auditor to accept the lump payment and relieve these persons of the interest charges that be assessed if their assessments went on the tax duplicate.

The persons whose assessments were ordered accepted are: John Probst $1,299.66 for Brightwood drive improvement; Catherine Gorenflo, $294.41 for Silver street improvement; Hocking Valley railroad $256.04 for Silver Street improvement; Mildred Cranston $106.95 for Scranton avenue improvement.

Cram Leads Locals in Scoring with Eight Points; Dayton Is Next.

Using every member of the squad, the Shovel Y-Indus ran wild over the Mansfield's Ex-His last night on the Steam Shovel court to win handily, 39 to 18.

Taking the lead at the start, the locals held a 20 to 13 margin at the half and then shot baskets at random in the final period to hold a decisive lead.

Rod Cram, guard, led the team in scoring with eight points, although the scoring was fairly well divided among the other regulars.

On Saturday night the Y-Indus will meet the Dayton Y. M. C. A. at Dayton and on the following Wednesday night will play Kenyon college here.

FORBIDS TALKS

Yale Athletic Body Frowns on Radio Addresses and Press Stories.

By The Associated Press

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 9—Yale has forbidden its athletic officials from speaking over the radio or writing in the public press.

The new ruling, passed at a meeting of the board of athletic control on Nov. 24, but just now made public, supersedes an earlier regulation under which persons connected in official capacities with Yale athletics agreed not to discuss over the radio or in the press events in which Yale teams participated.

In announcing the ruling, the Yale Athletic association denied reports that it was aimed at the activities of Tad Jones, former head football and member for several years of the football advisory committee. Prof. Selden Rose, chairman of the board of control, said that on the contrary, Jones himself was in favor of the new rule.

GRIFFITH SEEKS BOUT WITH MAX SCHMELING

Posts Forfeit for Match with Illinois Athletic Commission.

By International News Service

CHICAGO, Dec. 9—Tuffy Griffith, the hard punching heavyweight from Iowa, went at his training route today with an added vigor, for now he is assured of a meeting with Max Schmeling, the worlds heavyweight champion—if he succeeds in whipping Young Stribling Friday night at the Stadium.

Jack O'Keefe, Griffith's manager, late yesterday posted a $2,500 forfeit with the Illinois Athletic commission as a stipulation of his willingness to meet the new heavyweight champion. Stribling likewise has posted a forfeit to bind a match with Schmeling.

"The National boxing association threatens to vacate Schmeling's title if Max doesn't follow the rule which demands he defends his title within six months," O'Keefe said in posting the forfeit.

TURN TO BASKETBALL

DAYTON, O., Dec. 9—With the 1930 football season successfully climaxed with a triumphant win over Wittenberg college 8 to 0 on Thanksgiving, the University of Dayton Flyers are turning their attention to the basketball season which is to open in a few weeks.

NAVY SHOWS POWER IN WIN OVER PENN; CADETS WEAKENED

Ticket Sales for Charity Game Pass Half Million Mark as Game Nears.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 9—Ticket sales for the benefit football game between the Army and Navy at the Yankee stadium Saturday had passed the $600,000 mark today and it still was hoped the receipts would reach or exceed $1,000,000.

Grover Whalen, chairman of the committee sponsoring the contest to aid the unemployed, announced that 17,000 of the 80,000 tickets still remained to be sold. He expressed confidence that they would be disposed of within the next two days.

Stimulating the sale more than any other one factor was Navy's spectacular triumph over Pennsylvania at Philadelphia last Saturday. The Midshipmen revealed unsuspected power on the attack in that game and all predictions of an easy Army victory have been tossed overboard. Prospects now are for a closely contested game that may be decided by one "break."

Army has the better record, losing only to Notre Dame by a one-point margin and getting no better than a tie with Yale. Navy, on the other hand, was trounced by Notre Dame, 26-2, and lost to Duke, Ohio State and Southern Methodist as well.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 9—The chief task confronting Major Ralph I. Sasse, head football coach at Army, is to get his squad back into the form they showed against Notre Dame.

"Unconsciously the team reached its peak for the Notre Dame game," says the Army mentor. "To keep the squad from going stale we broke training after that game for three days. Now we are trying to build up."

The Cadets probably will be seriously crippled for the Navy game on Saturday. Sebastian, Armstrong, Malloy, Trice, Hillsinger, Summerfelt, Carlmark, Stecker and Frentzel all are nursing injuries.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 9—An air of quiet optimism spreads over Navy's practice field as the Midshipmen prepare for their clash with the Army at New York on Saturday.

The smashing victory over Penn did much to restore Navy's morale after a succession of early season defeats. A series of injuries ruined Navy's season for the first two months but the entire squad came out of the Penn game in excellent condition and Head Coach Bill Ingram feels his charges have reached their peak.

ROSENBLUMS QUIT

Team Withdraws from Pro Cage Loop Due to Poor Attendance.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Dec. 9—The American Professional Basketball league will remain in the field minus the former hub of the circuit, the Cleveland Rosenblums.

Max Rosenblum announced the withdrawal of his club, three times world's champions in the five years the league has been in existence, after a conference of prexies here late yesterday. Decreased attendance was given as the reason.

President John J. O'Brien of New York announced that Chicago, Paterson, N. J., Toledo, Rochester, Syracuse and Fort Wayne, Ind., would continue to play.

Cleveland's withdrawal is effective immediately and all the Rosenblums are free agents.

TECUMSEH LEAGUE MAY BE DISSOLVED

Rift Between Bellefontaine, Urbana May Cause Break-up of High School Loop.

By United Press

MARYSVILLE, Dec. 9—Abandonment of the Tecumseh High School Athletic league was virtually assured here Monday night at a meeting of representatives of the four member schools, Delaware, Marysville, Bellefontaine and Urbana. No agreement was reached at the meeting and it was thought probable the league would be dissolved.

The reason for the possible discontinuance of the league was a rift between Bellefontaine and Urbana High schools caused by the Thanksgiving Day football game. The Bellefontaine coach was alleged to have taken his team from the field because of a disputed decision of one of the officials.

Urbana then refused to pay Bellefontaine its share of the receipts from the game because "they failed to fulfill their contract," it was said. Under the rules of the Ohio High School Athletic association, Urbana was within its rights in keeping the money.

The state athletic association, of which H. R. Townsend is commissioner, has urged the two schools to mend their differences in an effort to keep the league intact. The association also suggested the share of the receipts from the unfinished game be given Bellefontaine.

BUCKEYE CAGE FIVES PROMISE HOT RACE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

De Pauw, Newcomer in Group, To Compete; Miami, Denison Loom Strong.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Dec. 9—With almost every team boasting an experienced machine for the 1930-31 season, an interesting race for the Buckeye conference basketball title is promised.

De Pauw university, Greencastle, Ind., will enter Buckeye competition for the first time, under the two-year agreement, but Wabash, another new member of the conference, had filled its schedule before being admitted to the Buckeye league.

Miami and Denison, weak last season, seem likely to turn the tables during the coming season. Their prospects are better than those of Ohio, Cincinnati and Ohio Wesleyan.

Nine lettermen are available at Miami. Denison has eight lettermen available and some every promising sophomores. The University of Cincinnati squad will have seven players with varsity experience. Many candidates turned out for the team, but no outstanding material was revealed in early practice.

At Ohio Wesleyan the Bishops will have five lettermen available and a great array of likely guards. Forwards and centers are scarce. Ohio university has none of its third place team of last year and promising sophomore material is lacking.

Wittenberg has a schedule of 21 games. With four regulars back and a promising group of sophomores on hand, competition for positions on the team will be keen.

Word from Indiana is that De Pauw will have a strong team, with five experienced men available.

DRAFT CONFERENCE ON BALL MEET MENU

Committees from Majors, Minor Leagues To Parley Over Problem.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 9—Major league club owners spent the first day of the annual mid-winter meetings in high-powered conversation.

When all was said and done yesterday it took the time-worn draft question to provide the only excitement of the day.

The committee of nine appointed by the three class AA non-draft leagues—American association, International and Pacific Coast leagues—announced they had been invited to confer on the draft question with a committee representing the National and American leagues at the Hotel Roosevelt tomorrow morning.

Efforts to hold an informal conference between the opening groups yesterday failed when the major leagues failed to gather together a quorum. The majors have discontinued all business dealings with the five non-draft leagues, the three class AA circuits and the Western and Three Eye leagues, until they accept the draft. This the non-draft organizations are prepared to do but the rival groups have been unable to agree on terms. They may do so at tomorrow's conference or later in the week but baseball men generally were on the opinion that a settlement of the dispute was only a question of time.

Hoppe, Cochran Even Up in Billiard Match

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 9—Willie Hoppe and Welker Cochran were all square today in the 18.2 balkline billiards match.

Hoppe won yesterday's opening block, 300 to 30, and had a high run of 196. Cochran took the night block, 300 to 125, to even things up. The match will be decided on the basis of block victories, rather than total points. Four more blocks at 18.2 remained on the program, to be followed by six blocks of 18.1.

Mid-West Basketball Teams Get Good Start

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 9—Northwestern, Illinois and Notre Dame today had victories marked up for their initial basketball competition with Iowa the only major team to get off to a losing start.

Northwestern last night overwhelmed Bradley college, 36 to 23, and Illinois after a feeble start, defeated DePauw 27 to 15. Notre Dame had little trouble downing Kalamazoo, (Mich.) college, 26 to 15, but Iowa's green aggregation was unable to cope with St. Louis university and lost, 26 to 14.

CLAIM PLAYERS FAILED TO TRAIN

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 9—The Pennsylvania, the students' daily publication at the University of Pennsylvania in commenting on the football situation at Penn, said in an editorial today:

"We are not releasing news when we say that the players did not work with the coaching staff this year. Nor is it news when we say that some of them did not train."

EX-IRISH STARS PREP FOR CHARITY GAME

Former Notre Dame Flashes Work Out on Old Stamping Grounds.

By The Associated Press

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 9—Old-time Notre Dame football stars began arriving to prepare for their charity game in New York next Sunday against the New York Giants professional team.

Twenty of the old timers were on hand. A dozen more will join them here or in New York. Two members of the famous Four Horsemen backfield of 1924, Elmer Layden and Harry Stuhldreher, arrived Sunday and the other two, Don Miller and Jimmy Crowley, were expected today. Linemen of that famous aggregation booked to appear Sunday include Adam Walsh, center, Joe Bach and Rip Miller, tackles; Noble Kizer, guard; and Chuck Collins and Hunsinger, ends. Weibel, guard, is the only regular of that team not lined up. Most of them are well-known coaches now.

CHICAGO U. DECIDES TO DROP NATIONAL HIGH SCHOOL MEET

Basketball Tournament Is Discontinued Following Poll Made of Principals.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 9—The "big trip" to Chicago to strive for the national interscholastic basketball title has been made by high school teams for the last time.

Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg last night announced that the University of Chicago had decided to discontinue the tournament which has been the blue ribbon event of high school basketball since 1917.

From every part of the country the prep stars made a colorful drive on Chicago for a week each March. Boys who had to walk miles to the railroad and teams which played and practiced outdoors came to the tournament, the last two renewals of which were won by the Athens, Tex., Hornets.

Jobless Funds To Be Asked in Columbia Bill

AN APPEAL for contributions to the Salvation Army Radio Fund—the last to be made over the hour before the Army-Navy charity football game on Dec. 13 about which the appeal centers—will occupy the spot position on the Philco Symphony Orchestra program for Tuesday at 9:30 p. m., over the Columbia chain.

Five minutes will be taken from the musical program of Howard Barlow and his orchestra for the appeal, which will be made by a nationally known speaker selected by the Citizens' Committee of the Salvation Army, of which Grover A. Whalen is chairman.

Barlow will present a program depicting moods of merrymaking and gayiety, the feature of which is his own arrangement of Rubinstein's "Melody in F," "Festivals" from Debussy's "Nocturnes" whose swirling interplay of polyphonic themes suggests carnival-time in a Latin city, and Chabrier's "Marche Joyeuse," are typical of the mood of the program. Liadov's "Dance of the Amazons" will be played for the first time over the radio as another musical treat.

"PASSION FLOWER," NEXT AT PALACE, HAS STRONG CAST

Play Based on Triangle Love Story by Kathleen Norris.

BY HALLIE HOUCK

A STRONG cast Kay Francis, Kay Johnson, Charles Bickford, Lewis Stone, Zasu Pitts and Dickie Moore, was selected by William de Mille when he started directing "Passion Flower," coming to the Palace Wednesday and Thursday.

Kathleen Norris wrote the story, which ran serially in a popular monthly magazine. Having read the story, which held its interest throughout the months we can recommend the plot as good material for a triangle love story.

There has been discussion as to the premise of this story on marriage, particularly the role of the deserted wife. Kay Johnson was selected for this role. "The other woman," has been called by critics one of the most typical of modern characterizations. Kay Francis, direct from "The Virtuous Sin," was assigned to this role. The husband is Bickford and the little boy, his and Kay Johnston's son, is Dickie Moore. Stone plays the semi-invalid husband of Kay Francis.

BETTY COMPSON IN "BLAZE O'GLORY"

"Blaze O'Glory" at the Ohio Thursday, Friday and Saturday brings us Eddie Dowling in the starred role and Betty Compson, Henry B. Walthall and Frankie Darro in the leading support roles.

Dowling's first picture was "The Rainbow Man," made last year. In his second picture he portrays a role similar to his own as he lived it when he went from a small town to seek his fortune on Broadway.

Betty Compson, one of the actresses who "came back" in talking pictures. She was originally a Christie comedy girl. Three stars were made on the opening night of "The Miracle Man," one was Lon Chaney, the other Thomas Meighan, and the third Betty Compson. Then she faded into obscurity and did not flash again until "Woman to Woman" was made.

Another woman stole my husband

—do I deserve pity.....or blame?

So . . . it had happened to her, too. Deserted by her husband, for another woman. She, the ideal wife! She, the woman who had slaved and struggled and sacrificed! She, who had scoffed at wives who couldn't hold their husbands' love.

And now . . . this. Cast aside. An object of pity and scorn. Deserted by the man whom even now, she still loved.

Stephen had been a good husband. Kind, generous, ambitious. How could he have been so cruel to his wife and his two adoring children?

Bitterly she thought of his last scornful words. "I'm through," he had cried. "I hope to heaven I never see you again!" and he had stormed out of the room—leaving her trembling, white-faced, abaddoned . . .

"He had no cause—no right to leave me," she sobbed. But—perhaps she had made the one fatal mistake that has driven countless husbands into other women's arms.

Read this woman's unflinching confession today. Her story is called "The Wife Who Stood Still" and appears in its entirety in the January True Story Magazine. Did she regain the love she lost? Who is to blame when husbands stray? Whether you are a man or a woman, married or unmarried, this amazing true story will leave imprinted on your mind a lesson you will never forget. Don't miss it.

$10,000.00 Cash Every Month— For True Stories That YOU Can Write!

Beginning with the calendar month of January, True Story Magazine will actually DOUBLE the prize money paid each month for stories representing an experience that took place in your life or in the life of an acquaintance.

...everything and ...carrying the volu... ...secretly pleased. ...The Collegians ...were already ...the piano with ...seated before the ...were singing ...cinda theme bal...lads. Mrs. Brixton rose abruptly as I entered almost upsetting Mr. Veritzen who was gallantly turning her music.

"I've just been keeping your place for you," she said with pretty, apparently confused apology. With a quick decisive little movement, I put my hands upon her shoulders and seated her again upon the piano bench

"Please'" I entreated, "I'm selfish, but I want to watch and listen to these young people."

I half whispered the words, for I did not wish to embarrass the young guests of The Larches I need not have feared, however, I do not think any one of them was paying the slightest attention to anyone outside their particular group

But it was a group worth watching, worth listening to, when a moment later they swung into "Oh! Little Town of Bethlehem!" Trained in school and college choruses, and by good fortune without a single poor voice in the lot, the rest of us knew after the first line, that we were in for a treat They had been singing school songs and the latest jazz hits together from the first day of their arrival, and I guess it was that they already had had a rehearsal of the carols at The Larches so sure and true were they in the soprano, contralto, tenor and bass into which, they had divided their voices

After that first line or two, the rest of us only pretended to sing, gave ourselves up to the pleasure of listening to the fresh young voices of the Yale boys, the Whitney girls, and Mary and Noel, whom the youngsters had insistently included in all their good times.

The Magic of Music

Helena Brixton was a marvelous accompanist I paid her that mental tribute and as for the second time of the Christmas Eve, the strains of the old carols floated through the farmhouse. "Bethlehem," "When Shepherds Watched Their Flocks By Night," "We Three Kings of Orient Are," "Holy Night," and the rest of them —I do not think there was one of us who failed to thrill to the beauty and the melody of those young faces and voices

There were two faces, however, which reflected additional emotions to those evoked by the music

Lillian's eyes were tender but her face was working as she watched Ronald and Marion standing close to each other, their hands clasped, surreptitiously, as they patently thought, but plainly visible For a horrified instant, I thought Lillian would not be able to keep back her tears. Then I saw her husband touch her shoulder and murmur something to her, and I knew as well as if I had heard it that he was saying, "Steady, dear."

Philip Veritzen's face was the other at which I bent a furtive glance. Unmindful, for the moment, of the music he had appointed himself to turn he was gazing steadfastly at his son Was it my imagination, or was there softened yearning in that look?

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M LEWIS

TODAY was Tuesday, and it had snowed again when I opened up to let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth, so I knew it would be good sliding on the hill because the first snow it was on it had thawed and then froze so I would have liked to wait, adding, as soon as I had let Jubilee down but not before I had put on my britches When I had let him down and was out feeding the dumbed brutes before I milked old Hopper, who is our crip came and said the bunch had went down to the hill with their sleds and said for me to come down, too, after I had fed my face. He went in the house with me when I had got milked, and the girls were there

My mother has to have Hopper come in, but I can't see him in when the others are there without acting the rest of them so he don't get to come in very often My mother said that Mr Farrel had a narrow escape from Peonia, and the doctor said if he had stayed in the cold garage ten minutes longer nothing would have saved him So I am glad he hollered to me when he did.

My grandfather showed the girls his Mexican pocket piece. I asked him why he went over to lick Mexico, and he said he et a Mexican tamale, but when he went over there to lick Mexico a Mexican gave him a drink and it made him forget what he went over for They must have funny water over there

As soon as I had fed my face we all skun out with our slays for the hill, and we could hear the bunch hollering before we got there, and when we got here we found Mush and his wife, who janit our school, were done sliding down hill, and the hill was so slippy that when anybody slid down it seemed like they got to the bottom before they had started Mush borried my slay to show his wife how to take a belly-slammer, and he went down the hill so fast that he went all the way across the pond and the points stuck in the steep railroad imbankment and Mush pushed his face into the bankment so hard it made his nose bleed. I left the blood on my slay for a trademark He wife called him a fat old fool and took him home, so we ran and put all the slays in the barn and went with them, but she wouldn't let us in the basement so we don't hear what else she called him. I wouldn't call anyone a name like that so near Christmas We all went upstairs stomping the snow off when the bell rang and there was Nibs. We were all glad to see him. Mealy offered him an apple she had brung from at recess, but he would not have it I guess he thought mebby there was something the matter with it, but there wasn't, for she et it.

Members of the Y. M. C. A. Boys department have shown a splendid spirit in giving over their game room as their share in the community welfare work for the year. In no case has there been such a word from a boy because he could not use the game room. They seem to be glad of the opportunity of doing their bit in serving the community.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, Dec. 10

A DAY of much progress and prosperity is fostered by the most auspicious rule of important stars. There is sign of much constructive effort both in the employment of others and in lines of original genius and skill, leading to important change and possible public recognition or popular acclaim. It is a time for forging ahead with much initiative and courage, although it would be well to sign all writings with precaution and sagacity. Also be discreet in the personal relations and activities.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of adventure and enterprise, with the prospect of change of environment and business connections, but with the assurance of successful launching of new projects or inventions either for employers or independently. Promotion and honors are in store but sign all writings cautiously and be circumspect in personal associations. A child born on this day should be clever, original, inventive and adventurous, and should attain established place either in employment with the public or on its own account.

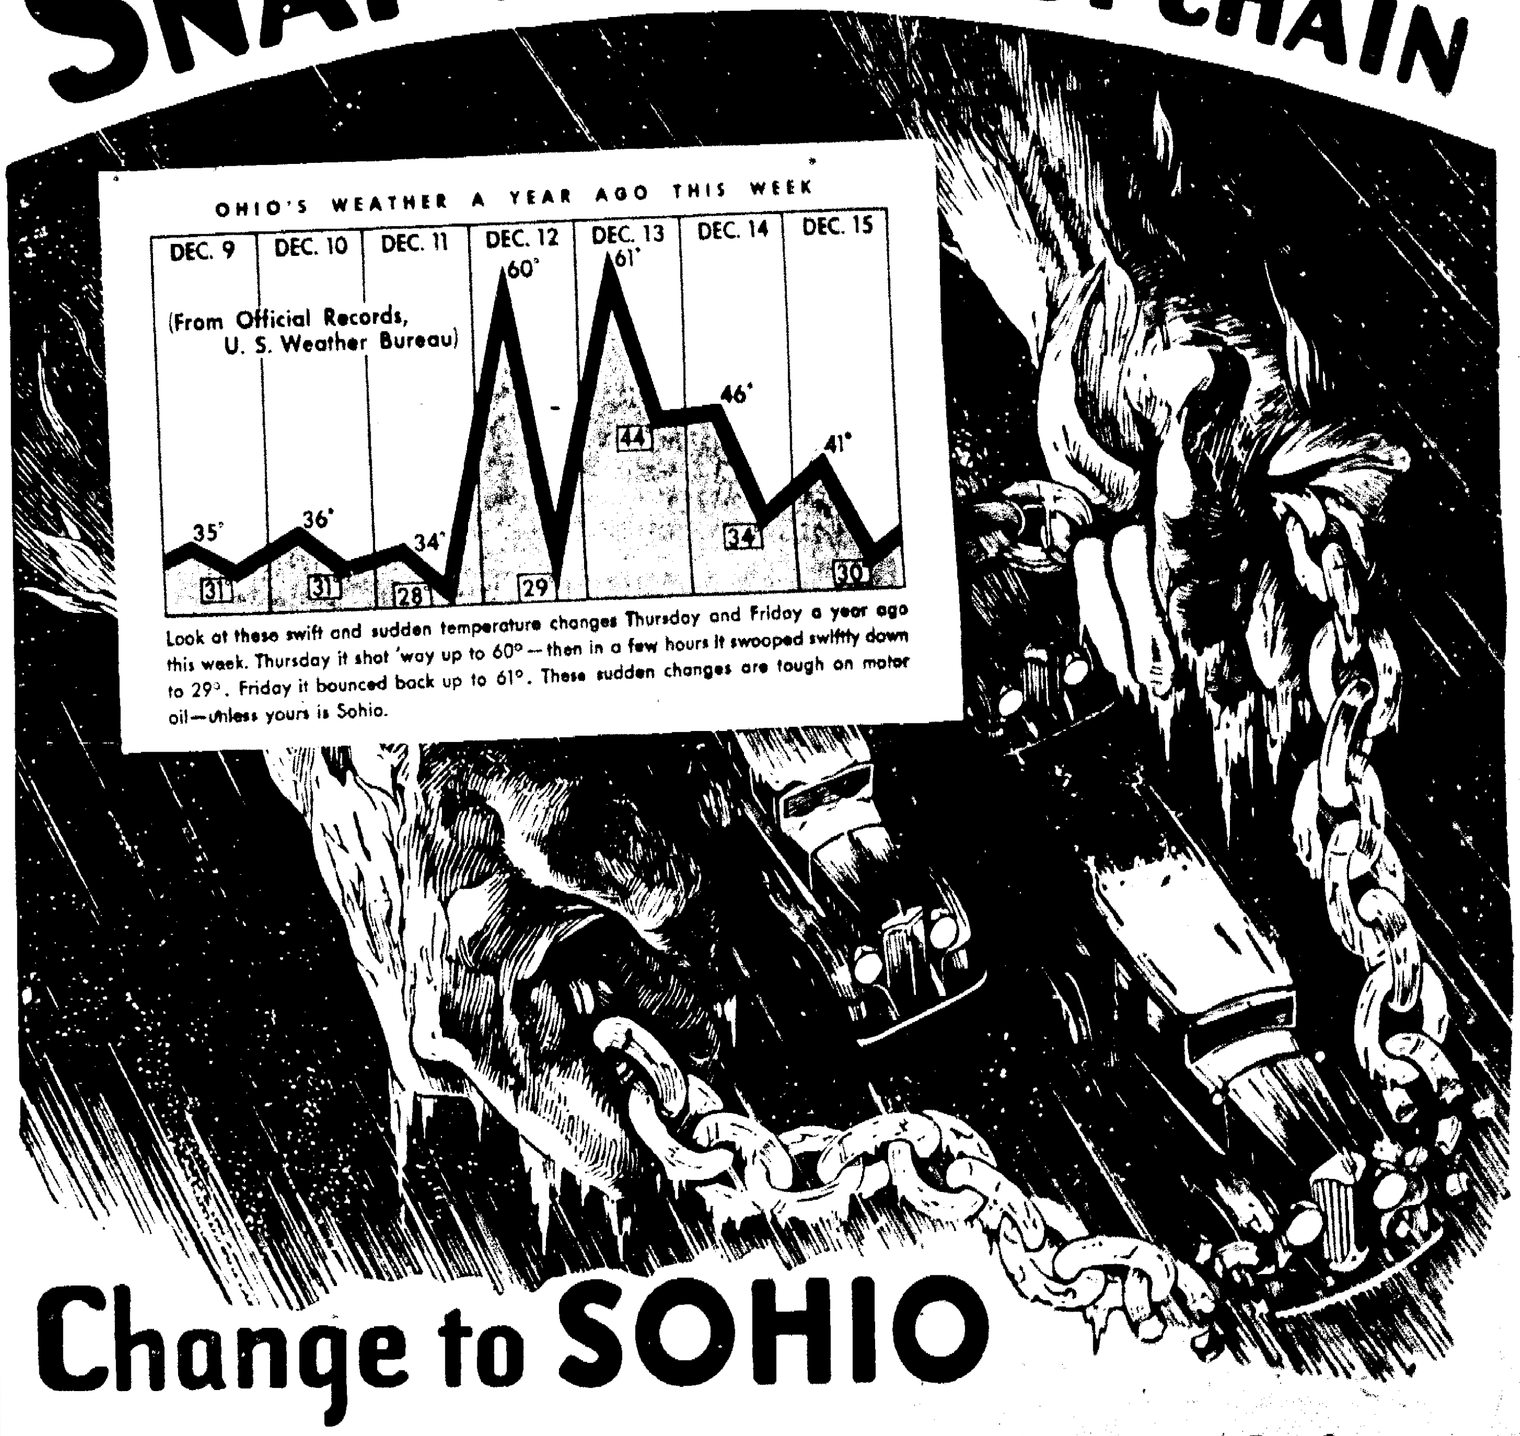
SNAP WINTER'S ICY CHAIN



Look at these swift and sudden temperature changes Thursday and Friday a year ago this week. Thursday it shot 'way up to 60°—then in a few hours it swooped swiftly down to 29°. Friday it bounced back up to 61°. These sudden changes are tough on motor oil—unless yours is Sohio.

Change to SOHIO

the oil that's free from harmful wax

On cold frosty days harmful wax in motor oil stalls cars and kills batteries. Wax can't lubricate. It gets thick and gummy—clogs oil lines—makes motors stiff. But motors spin easily when Sohio's in the crankcase because Sohio is free from harmful, clogging wax. For that reason also, Sohio Motor Oil stands up under all operating temperatures—it insures perfect lubrication at Zero or 100° above. Don't let Old Man Winter chain you down. Switch to Sohio—Ohio's all-weather oil.

$141,500 in Christmas Club money is now being released by the banks of Marion. Statistics indicate that nearly 40% of these funds is usually spent on Christmas purchases. Savings and investments take 30% and the remainder goes to taxes, insurance, et cetera.

These are sensible ways of getting rid of the money—but we're hoping that an even larger percentage will be spent on gifts. There is being so much talk of depression that everybody, who can, should try to clear the air by contributing to a very merry Christmas.

Not that people should spend their check foolishly—but here at Uhler-Phillips, the emphasis is being placed on practical gifts. And since prices are lower the savings are greater. So shop here, spend where your dollars go farthest—and spend where you can save — because —

... been counting all the ... that first dance with ... danced beautifully to- ... had been long weeks ... had the opportunity. ... David's arms, sway- ... unison, perhaps he would whisper an endearment that would make a rift in her dreadful depression, heal the sore in her heart. But he was dancing with some one else. The yellow-haired pixie—Charlotte Sturdevant—was young and gay and light-hearted; she kept making faces at David, pretending to want to get away from him. And David was laughing.

Emily Bennett always did everything beautifully and her Hallowe'en party was no exception. Because of its distance from town the old place boasted no such modern conveniences as gas and electricity. Tonight Emily had lighted the upstairs and down with a myriad of wax candles. Great log fires blazed in every room; yellow and white chrysanthemums were on every mantelpiece; the orchestra had been specially imported from Philadelphia the punch was brewed from an old family recipe, there was unlimited champagne at supper.

Fanny was never long alone at a party. A ghost and a skeleton competed for her favors, and Fanny linked arms and danced with them both. Afterward it was told and retold and told again that Fanny Frost had never been in better form than she was that night. She danced as if she were a very fountain of rhythm, laughed constantly, was witty and gay, flirted outrageously, took the baton from the orchestra leader and conducted a number, did an exhibition tango with Al Storer.

When David looked for Fanny later, as he did half a dozen times, she was dancing or was engaged three or four dances ahead. She had supper on the stairs in the midst of a laughing, chattering group; there was no room for David.

Not long afterward some one suggested a stroll in the park. Four set out: David, Helen Alderson, Ralph Brander and Sue Peabody. David was too engrossed with Helen to notice that Fanny was standing in the hall looking after him. Perhaps he had forgotten that that morning he had planned with Fanny to slip away and show her the park by moonlight. Ralph wore a skeleton suit and his thin shoes were soon wet by the dew. He and Sue turned back.

Helen ad David went on. Tempted by the beauty of the night, the succession of lovely vistas that lured them ahead at every turning they walked for miles and miles. When they got back it was after 3 and the party was breaking up. No one had seen Fanny recently—her wrap was missing. Emily Bennett was almost certain Fanny had left with the Sidney Philbricks.

A little shamefaced, a little sulky, David drove home alone.

Back at the house he found no sign of Fanny. He telephoned the Philbricks, Fanny was not there; the last they had seen of her she was dancing. Emily Bennett had no telephone. David made the long drive back to Bennett park far faster than the law allowed; the house was in utter darkness, David turned his car and went home again. Fan must have taken a moonlight stroll herself; half a dozen people might have taken her home; undoubtedly they had passed on the way.

When he got within sight of his mother's home he saw that the downstairs was ablaze with lights, and for the firt time a premonition of disaster seized him. Scarcely waiting to turn off his engine he dashed up the front steps. The front door knob turned in his hand—Leona, the cook, had been watching for him, but she gave him no greeting.

In the library were his mother, his Cousin Emmeline Brownbeck, Leila, Edward Philbrick, Cousin Louisa and her husband. Leila was huddled in a chair crying, the others grouped about her. Cousin Emmeline had her hand on her shoulder. His mother stood a little aloof by the mantelpiece, a sibyl of gloom in her long dark dressing gown. David had heard raised voices a moment before, but as he came in the door there was a dark strident silence. They all looked at him—even Leila stopped crying to stare at him.

"What is it? Where's Fanny? What has happened to Fanny?"

They glanced uncomfortably at one another. Edward Philbrick cleared his throat.

"They're gone," Leila burst out; "they've gone off together. Bob telephoned. He said..."

"But Fanny—where is Fanny?"

David's mother came forward and took his arm. With all her soul she shrank from delivering this death blow to her son—the death blow to his love and pride and all his fine hopes of happiness. But they were Brownbecks. Better she than another.

"Don't you understand, my son?" she asked solemnly. "Fanny has gone away with Robert Daniels. He telephoned from Crawfordsville. Fanny is dead to you. You must put her out of your life."

David stared at her blankly, unbelieving.

"That's preposterous," he said in a loud voice. He tried to say something else, but though his mouth worked no words came. He swirled, started toward the front door, no idea in his head but to start out blindly and find Fanny. His Cousin Edward, misunderstanding, caught his arm.

"I've been to Sidney's," he said. "Sheila is all right. Fanny and Bob did not bother themselves with encumbrances."

The spell was broken; they all babbled at once. Leila, strangely enough, began quarreling with her Aunt Emmeline.

"You said it would be all right," she sobbed accusingly. "You wouldn't let me go to France to meet Bob. It's your fault. It's all your fault." She swayed back and forth, repeating, hysterically, "It's all your fault; you said it would be all right."

"Better get her some brandy—David, too. He's the color of wax." Edward Philbrick commanded. David turned and went upstairs to his bedroom, his and Fanny's bedroom, lighted all the lights, locked the doors, sat staring stupidly down at the carpet. He heard voices, knocks, a rat-a-tat-tat on the panels; someone tried first one door, then the other. Presently he made out Leona's voice saying authoritatively, "Davey, open the door this minute. Your mama's going to have it broke down if you don't!"

He got up then and unlocked the door.

"Tell them I'm all right," he said peevishly. Then in a sudden burst of anger, "Tell them for God's sake to leave me alone." Then he switched off the lights and lay down on the couch.

Perhaps an hour later he heard the front door open and close, heard three cars starting one after the other, heard his mother come heavily upstairs, listen at his door and go to her room. He lay there motionless two hours more, heard the milk delivered, dogs barking, the cheery discordant whistle of the paper boy.

Suddenly the front door bell rang urgently, rang and rang. His mother's footsteps went heavily down the stairs. There was an interval of quiet. Then Leona again was rattling his door.

"Davey, Davey," she urged in a sibilant whisper. "Come downstairs quick. Mrs. Fanny's back and your mama won't let her in."

Daily Proverb—"He least discredits his travels who returns the same as he went."

Sinclair Lewis says that "politics is the thing they keep down in Washington." A little bit ambiguous for a Nobel prize winner.

During the year up to Monday, the automobile deaths in Chicago numbered 1,040. What are Chicago motorists trying to do, anyway; show up the record of the city's gunmen?

"After a horse," says H. L. Mencken, "man is the most stupid animal created." Now what can he possibly have against the horse?

"The word, depression, must be getting worn out on the printing presses," Ambassador Dawes remarks. What's the matter with this as a tip? Isn't it possible that all this long-continued depression press talk is being overdone?

There's no occasion for New York City to get chesty over six store hold-ups there in a day. We had two here in almost as short a period, and look at the big population advantage New York has over us!

A Washington correspondent writes half a column, the purpose of which is to assure the country that the sister of the vice president and the wife of the speaker of the house are not lacking in cordiality when greeting each other at social gatherings. What does he imagine the country's impression to be; that Dolly and Alice attend social functions carrying clubs?

A Washington dispatch sets out that the President's visa ruling plan for the temporary halting of immigration will bar 135,000 aliens during the year to end June 30, 1931. That will help, but unless employment conditions show signs of quick and marked improvement, why not a general barring?

Uttering a warning against any attempt to restore prosperity by tapping the government treasury, Senator Borah emphasized the fact that any money to pay for huge expenditures must come from the pockets of the taxpayers. Can something be wrong with the Hon. William? Here he is deliberately taking a position in which practically all the country will agree with him.

The Berlin reception of the American-made talkie based on Erich Maria Remarque's "All Quiet on the Western Front" was not what might be termed enthusiastic, but the police succeeded in emptying the theater on the opening night before the audience had reached the house-wrecking stage.

The keel for the first of the two new 30,000-ton liners to be built for the United States Lines, Inc., laid in Camden, New Jersey, last Saturday, was the first laid in the United States for a transatlantic liner in almost thirty years, which gives an idea of the extent to which this country has slipped in big liner construction and in transatlantic service for that matter, in the last three decades.

The Illinois free employment service up in Chicago is simply deluged with calls for domestic labor and utterly unable to meet the demand, despite the present unemployment conditions. The trouble seems to be that jobs as cooks and housemaids do not appeal to applicants, the great majority of whom want to be "cashiers" or "secretaries."

The Uptown Christmas Decorations.

The uptown business section of the city took on a decidedly Christmasy appearance, Monday night, when the vari-colored lights installed as a part of the holiday decoration scheme were turned on for the first time.

With the majority of the street lights in colors, the lines of colored bulbs stretched along both sides of the two principal streets and the decorations of the individual business places, the result as a whole was very pleasing and decidedly more effective than any previous Christmas decoration.

It is possible that the use of red and green bulbs in the street lamps may too greatly reduce the volume of light after the alternate lights are shut off late in the night season, but if this proves to be the case, the trouble is easy of remedy. All that will be needed to correct it will be the substitution of clear bulbs for colored in the lamps which show lights all night.

However, the most pleasing phase of the decoration to us is not the decoration itself, but the spirit behind it. It demonstrates that the local merchants are working together for the general good. It's evidence of a recognition of a mutual interest. In other words, it shows more of a community spirit than has been manifested locally for some time, and that's the spirit which makes towns and cities grow and thrive. In the light of this interpretation of the uptown Christmas decorations, they have far more appeal to us than they otherwise would.

Minority Government.

Three-fourths of the federal tax burden are borne by the states having less than one-half the country's population. This fact is demonstrated by the annual report of the commissioner of internal revenue given out for publication Monday. The total internal revenue receipts for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1930, were $3,049,145,733, of which income taxes accounted for $2,410,259,230, the balance of $629,886,503 being paid in miscellaneous taxes. The report also shows that the industrial states are bearing a much heavier per capita tax burden than the states known as agricultural.

Presented in tabulated form the first column of figures showing each state's percentage of population and the second the percentage of taxation paid by it, the ten states paying 52.51 per cent of the federal tax bill although their aggregate population is but 49.14 per cent. of the total population of the country are:

New York	10.25	30.55
North Carolina	2.58	0.02
Illinois	6.18	5.13
Pennsylvania	7.83	7.57
California	4.61	4.91
Ohio	5.39	4.79
Michigan	3.92	4.51
Massachusetts	3.46	3.81
Virginia	1.97	3.18
Missouri	2.94	2.04

The big surprise in this list of ten heavily-taxed states is North Carolina, which is the more noticeable for the reason that few southern or western states pay tax percentages approaching their population percentages, as a rule the exception being those which have great industrial centers. Georgia, it may be said, pays but .41 per cent. of the taxes, although having 2.36 per cent. of the population; Alabama, with 2.15 per cent. of the population, pays but .24 per cent. of the taxes, while Mississippi, with a population percentage of 1.63, pays only .07 per cent. of the tax burden. Some of the western states do not do any better. Iowa, by way of illustration, although having two per cent. of the population, pays but .44 of a per cent. of the taxation, and Idaho, the state which sends Mr. Borah to the senate as a sort of government within himself, comes pretty near going the limit by paying but .03 per cent. of the taxes with a population percentage of .36.

Some of these figures serve to recall how former Senator Grundy got squarely into the publicity spot-light by suggesting that it might be well were the representatives in the two houses of congress from the "backward" states, which bear but a small percentage of the burden of financing the government, to take a back seat when it came to the matter of raising revenue and permit the progressive states to determine the matter. In the light of the statistics given out by the internal revenue commissioner, it is apparent that, while the suggestion of the former Keystone state senator was not wholly courteous—at least it was not so considered by the members from the so-denominated "backward" states—it was not without the elements of fairness and justice.

Coming right down to brass tacks, is it not a fact that ours has been a minority-run government for years? Is not all our legislation of national scope controlled by minority representation, elected by a minority of the population which bears a minority, and a small one at that, of the cost of government?

Washington Luis Pereira da Souza, former president of Brazil, and his family have arrived in France and will make Paris their future place of residence. There's one thing to be said for deposed Latin-American presidents, if they escape with their lives they seldom, if ever, become charges upon foreign governments, the rule being to make provision for stormy days while enjoying days of prosperity.

The net return of 171 of the country's Class I railroads in October was $112,251,000, against $153,201,000 in October of 1929, a decline of 26.7 per cent. The legislators who court popularity by preying on the railroads should get busy. At this rate there may soon be no railroads left upon which to prey.

The headlines of several papers over the story of the ejection of Ben Lindsey, the discredited former judge of the Denver juvenile court, from the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York City Sunday, were a bit too enthusiastic, giving the impression that Lindsey had been beaten up as the result of the disturbance raised by him in his quest for publicity. In this old life of ours results are not always what they should be.

From the Mayo clinic up at Rochester, Minnesota, comes the story of the curing of a dying man in forty-eight hours by a new gland treatment. Isn't there liability that the Doctors Mayo may get in bad with the American Medical society for unprofessional conduct in effecting a cure so speedily?

The scientists of St. Luke's hospital in Chicago, in their search for a cancer cure, have succeeded in the cultivation of human cells in a test tube, and they hope by experiments on the cells which naturally could not be made on living sufferers, to discover what causes the disease and thus find for it a cure. If they are successful, they will have accomplished a way to combat a disease which, save war, is the greatest enemy of mankind.

At a big gathering of the champions of "personal liberty" in New York City, last week, it was held out that the dry law would be abolished by 1934. That will take some mighty swift work, all right, even if the time given prohibition to operate has been doubled, 1932 having been the date considered as recently as three months ago.

The commutation of the death sentences of the five Russians convicted of plotting to ten years in prison and the reduction of the ten-year sentences of the other three to eight years, verifies the view expressed in these columns ten days ago that the entire trial was a frame-up upon the Russian people, planned with the connivance of the accused to serve as an alibi for the falling-down of the soviet five-year program. And here's another prediction: the same governmental "magnanimity" which led to the commutations, will cause the prison stays of the eight to be very limited.

ANOTHER GERMANY.

The Germany we knew before the war was something unique: it is largely forgotten now. The Germany that rose out of the ruins of empire in 1919 was a very different nation, as meek as its predecessor was boastful, although not less determined, perhaps. But in recent weeks, and especially in the last week, still another Germany is appearing in the middle of Europe.

Thanks to the support of the Social Democratic party, made up of the responsible element of German labor, the Bruening financial program of retrenchment is assured. By the same token, the future of German economic life and her parliamentary system are safe, at least for some time to come.

But these ends have been gained only at a terrific price. The food riots in cities of the Reich, the sporadic violence that has come with every session of the Reichstag, indicate a disaffection among millions of persons which can not be wiped out by the passing of a law. The cry of "We want food" from hungry thousands is the most powerful impulse known to any government. Such cries brought the French revolution, such pressures are altering the structure of the British empire. They will have their effects in Germany as well.

It is inevitable that this vast pressure on Chancellor Bruening's government should have the result of stiffening Germany's attitude of defiance in demanding frontier changes, return of her colonies, and readjustment of reparations. No government, however, sane and ready to conciliate, can withstand indefinitely the warning of millions of men and women, milling through the streets, demanding the right to work and to live—unwilling to starve because their former rulers misled them in 1914.

A change in the tone of German foreign policy, already hinted on two or three occassions, may be predicted with certainty. This in turn raises important implications for America, as well as France and Britain. It is something to think seriously about.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

First Current Weather Map in Ohio.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

"It is a matter of legitimate pride," says Mr. Alexander in his "History of Ohio Climatology," "that the first current weather map on this continent was published in Ohio, and that in a very important sense, the United States weather bureau, at first called the United States signal service, had its inception in this state. This in connection with his assertion that Ohio has always kept well up with the procession meteorologically, if she had not actually been in the lead of it."

And this is his story of how it originated: In 1869 Frank A. Armstrong was the manager of the Western Union Telegraph company, at Cincinnati, and, with the hearty approval of his superiors in the company, began daily collections of weather reports from fifteen or twenty leading cities, which were furnished to the newspapers for publication.

In this way they came immediately to the attention of Professor Cleveland Abbe, then the superintendent of Cincinnati observatory, and himself a leader in the young science of meteorology. His scientific insight enabled him to perceive at once the possibilities in such work for discounting weather conditions for many hours in advance.

He took the matter up with the Cincinnati chamber of commerce and secured the cooperation of that organization in the enterprise. This first current weather map was issued on February 2, 1869. Mr. Alexander secured one of the few existing copies of the series—a much later one, for illustration in his book.

Professor Abbe, who was born in 1838, died in 1916.

Why Banish Poor Polly?

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

I was amused the other day, by a mother who scolded her daughter for buying a parrot. The good woman was quite upset by the purchase of this new pet, and was positive no good would come of it. It was with much surprise and perhaps with considerable skepticism that she listened to my story, expressing doubt that danger might come from possession of the bird.

Undoubtedly much unnecessary alarm has been raised in the minds of most of us in reference to parrots. This is because of the epidemic of so-called parrot disease recently observed in this country. Several cases of "Psittasosis," or "parrot disease," were discovered in Baltimore and Annapolis last winter. The outbreak was traced to birds supplied by a wholesale dealer in New York City. Shortly after the facts were discovered the diseased birds were placed under the supervision of the health officials and no more cases were reported.

It is interesting to note that this disease has been known for over fifty years. Research has shown that it is caused by the "bacillus psittacosis." This germ is carried by the diseased birds and transmitted to man.

In human beings the course of the disease is similar to that of a mild attack of typhoid fever. Headache, and a rise of fever to 102 and sometimes as high as 104, are common symptoms. The tongue appears dry and coated, and the patient complains of feeling very uncomfortable. Either diarrhoea or constipation may be present. Rose-colored spots appear on the skin, and sometimes a marked cough may be present. If no complications take place the patient recovers within fifteen or twenty days.

The disease is much more serious, fatal indeed, among birds than in man. In 1892, five hundred parrots were shipped from South America to Paris. On the journey 300 of the birds died from this disease. Due to negligence, the remainder of the shipment was sold to various people. Shortly thereafter an epidemic of psittacosis broke out in Paris.

There have been other similar epidemics, but really never very serious. The quarantine officials of the United States as well as of other countries have now provided such methods of inspection for the discovery of this disease that undoubtedly we will rarely or never hear of it again.

Parrots which have been in this country for years are not carriers of the disease, so there is no occasion to get rid of your old pet. The problem of control relates only to recently imported animals.

I am sure we have heard the last of parrot disease. Yet an ounce of prevention is always worth a pound of cure. If you have a parrot and any one in your home has been ailing with fever and grippe-like complaints, talk with your doctor. This should be the rule if the parrot appears sick or below par.

Twenty Years Ago.

It was Friday, December 9

The Star told of the marriage, the night before at Prospect of Miss Nellie Fritz and Mr. Orville Decker. Rev. M. E. Baumgardner was the officiating minister.

The new Erie freight house was ready for occupancy.

Three bands were arranged for the members of Colbane's stock company who were playing the Grand when it was burned and lost all their effects, a musical entertainment at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium and two sacred concerts at the Star theater.

The population of the United States was 91,797,256.

King Alfonso of Spain was threatened with the loss of his throne.

The city was flooded with counterfeit silver dollars.

Miss Gertrude Davis was elected noble grand of Wayside Rose Rebekah lodge.

The Star reported the birth of a son, the night before, to Mr. and Mrs. William Knowles, of east Center street.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Philip Pett, of Pleasant township, and a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. William Sandbower, of the Boulevard.

New Stars.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

In ancient times the sky was popularly thought to be unchangeable and would have been deemed heretical any who suggested the contrary. Nevertheless, stars disappeared. Dark stars were discovered. It was not conceived to be impossible that a new star should suddenly appear in the heavens where none had ever been before.

And yet astronomers since the time of Hipparchus, have from time to time observed in the sky points of light which had either formerly escaped their attention or else suddenly appeared as if from nowhere and out of nothing.

So little had this phenomenon been studied so comparatively recently had it been observed, that as late as the time of Tycho Brahe, the appearance of a new star was regarded with wonder and bewilderment. Tycho Brahe, a really great astronomer, was so astounded by this "new star appearing like a ghost in the firmament" that he regarded it as a miracle—"comparable to the standing still of the sun at command of Joshua or the darkness that came upon the earth at the crucifixion."

Kepler and many other distinguished astronomers observed these new stars, but no adequate study of them was made for a long time. It was believed that these stars were really new creations of matter, gas or what not, and that after a comparatively brief life they were doomed by their very nature to go out of existence.

Up to the year 1670 A. D., while many new stars had doubtless been observed, there is record of only thirteen. All these were observed in or near the Milky way. Early in the last century two were observed, and 1848 witnessed the discovery of still others. With the ushering in of the contemporary era of astronomic photography, the discovery of new stars has not been infrequent. Some fifty have been observed near the Milky way, and probably more than a hundred have been observed in the great nebula of Andromeda and in other spiral nebulae.

All of these have been very faint, of about the eighteenth magnitude, with one noteworthy exception. This is Nova Andromeda, discovered in 1885, which attained a magnitude of 7.5, and within less than a year had totally disappeared, even to the largest telescopes. During this century, aside from a few faint novae, five bright ones have been observed: Nova Persei, in 1901; Nova Geminorum, 1912; Nova Aquilae, 1918; Nova Cygni, 1920, and Nova Pictoris, 1925.

How do astronomers attempt to explain the sudden appearance of these strangers, who enter unbidden our gates? There can be no doubt that the sudden enormous increase in the brightness of a nova must be due to some tremendous cataclysm, far exceeding in magnitude anything we have experienced through actual knowledge. The explanation, given more than sixty years ago, is a shrewd surmise, and deserves to be mentioned: Volcanic forces, perhaps, or the disturbing approach or partial collision of another dark star, had led to the escape of highly-heated gases from within; and a chemical combination, after the gases had cooled by sudden expansion, gave rise to the outburst of flame at once very brilliant and of very short duration.

The most plausible of the four possible theories now advanced bases the phenomenon upon the sudden release of energy, probably of a sub-atomic origin, store up within the star. "This release," says Duncan in his excellent astronomy, "might be brought about by a body of planetary or smaller dimensions colliding with the star, and the probability of such a collision is much higher than that of a collision of two stars. Such a body would strike the star with terrific velocity and, plunging deep beneath the photosphere, be stopped by the denser layers below. Its kinetic energy would thus be transformed into heat, and a pocket formed in which the temperature would be millions of degrees. This temperature might act as a trigger to release energy from an unknown source within the star, the heated gas would become still hotter and, expanding, would blow off the overlying layers of the star with catastrophic force. With the relief of pressure the temperature would drop again so that the brightness of the star would subside, while the expanding gas would form a nebula of increasing size."—Copyright, 1930, International Feature Service, Inc.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Dec. 9.—That sweep of park west from Ninety-Second street to Columbus circle has suddenly acquired a new architectural opulence. It has its dizzy towers—a street that came to be ways geographically superb, it has also became shabby.

Fine old apartment-houses with aristocratic pretensions went to seed. came the sort featuring those with Indian hallboys and lacquered lacquered companionship consisted solely of colored maids and gentlemen who carried own keys.

Overlooking the park, the thoroughfare rightfully, next to Riverside drive, the most fashionable on the West Side. New York streets unless watched, devastating decay. Like a spotted apple the barrel, one shady apartment-house spoil an entire street.

Central park west began to take on patina of pomp twenty years ago when millionaire backers of the ill-fated later the Century and now being razed later chose the street for its site. They followed by other outbursts of building.

The Ethical Culture school lodged there, did the First and Second churches of Science and private schools. Real estate boomed and the street was widened. But at once there was a pronounced sag. park west seemed on the skids.

Utter stagnation seized it for several. About a year ago it began to revive. magnificent apartments topped by penthouses shot up magically. The character of the residents completely changed. People of importance moved in and the street was alive again.

Two of the finest residential apartments town have recently been finished in the style of the Nineties. The Dakota, considered many the best-built apartment-house in the metropolis, still stands at a west Seventy-second street corner—about the last of the old guard.

And on Park avenue this morning a platinum blonde bundled up in chinchilla emerged from a block long limousine, titivated a bit before a vanity mirror, lit up a cigarette and waited. Presently a messenger came and handed her a note which she tore open and threw away before reading. I'm still a-puzzled.

They had run out of every dish Bide had ordered so he ate what they brought. But at the cashier's desk he exclaimed, "It's funny, but I've run out of money."

In a second hand book-shop the other day I came upon a yellowing copy of the old Fireside, that weekly literary wallop of the "Gay Nineties." Its fiction dealt largely solely with dukes, Lady de Veres and villains with insinuating sneers. The ads, too, provided a sensation in hum-drum, especially that one headed: "Be Important. Get Big Mail." The drawing accompanying it showed a postman, bowed double with the weight of a ponderous sack, ringing the bell.

I have never quite forgiven the perpetrator of that flim-flam captioned: "Learn Ventriloquism at Home and Fool Your Friends." Lock Box 86, Department J., Altoona, Pennsylvania. I sent off fifty cents in stamps for the entire course. For five days after I received I went about uttering queer tight-lipped sounds, trying to make a voice in a closet say "Help me out!" As an inglorious climax I went to the family doctor for a tonsil yanking. But I kept my secret.

The Family Fireside, too, recalls the amateur talent play it printed for free use of subscribers. It was called "Roanoke" and was presented it in the Gallia Academy hall. The performance was interrupted at intervals by what seemed to be volleys of sudden hisses. Later we learned the hissing was from members of the audience spitting against the red hot cannon ball stove in the middle of the room.

In reviewing "Roanoke," the local paper said of my performance: "He acted his part naturally." I was cast as the simple hero. Copyright, 1930, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

Job for Thousands.

England's Cotswold Hills.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

For centuries poets and story-tellers have celebrated the matchless charm of England's rural landscape. Nowhere in the British Isles is scenic loveliness more abundant than in Britain's historic Cotswold hills.

The Cotswold country perfectly reflects the sturdiness and contentment that characterize the English rural temperament. The traveler finds a serenity in the atmosphere that exists in few places on this busy globe.

The Cotswold hills, often called the Cotswold, are located in the midlands of England. The capital is Circencester. The prettiest village is perhaps Chipping Campden, which was a wool center of considerable importance.

To this and other Cotswold villages come all the quaint attraction that belong to rural Britain of by-gone days. Here are to be found none of the outward evidences of the twentieth century bustle. The natives go their way, farming and raising sheep as their fathers and forefathers have done before them. Most of them live in houses built back two and three hundred years ago.

The Cotswold countryside holds a special intrigue the historical-minded traveler. For it was there that the legious of ancient Rome settled and lived for four hundred years.

Roads and houses built in those early days by skilful Roman masons can be found all over this section of the country. Many are still in excellent condition and in use today. In Cotswold are to be also found many Roman mosaics, shattered segments of pillars and stones, altars and monuments dating back to the Roman occupation during the third and four centuries.

The average elevation of Cotswold hills is only about 600 feet. The greater part of the hills lies in Gloucestershire, but the region does extend into Worcestershire, Warwickshire, Oxfordshire, Wilshire and Somersetshire. Cotswold Cloud, the largest, rises to 1,134 feet.

As throughout all rural England, the village pubs are the centers of social activity. In the Cotswold country are famous Gloucestershire cider they serve.

Perhaps the most pleasant mode of traveling through this lovely region is on bicycle, stopping in wayside pubs for a meal of bread, cheese and cider, the visitor from abroad is assured of a hearty welcome.

The pub-keeper, usually a chubby, jolly fellow, will usually drop whatever he has to be doing to chat for half an hour with the stranger from the other side of the Atlantic.

The leisurely-tempered Cotswold folk ways can find time to be pleasantly helpful if necessary.

The Order of the Times.

Anyway the world has progressed. In time of peace prepare for a disarmament conference.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The key to the city was presented by Mayor Jones to Kirk, who declared that it "symbolized the unlocking of the hearts, the generosity and the fine spirit of friendship manifested by the people of Marion city and county toward grange delegates." The mayor urged the delegates to feel at home in the city and promised that the city itself would do all in its power to make the visitors enjoy their stay here.

Guthery, in his address, praised the grange as a militant organization which has done much to put farming on a higher plane through its influence on legislation.

Deputy Masters Hold Session

The largest meeting of deputy masters of Ohio State granges ever to convene at the opening session of a state convention, met this morning in the Elks club rooms. The size of the group was highly commended by Walter F. Kirk, of Port Clinton, master of the state grange.

C. R. Massie, of Malta, master of the Deputy Masters association, welcomed the deputies to the meeting and introduced Mr. Kirk.

The session, which opened at 10 a. m., was addressed by R. B. Tom of the extension department of Ohio State university. His address consisted of details of his work in the dramatics and recreational departments of the extension course. Mr. Tom served as an officer in the Muskingum County Grange at one time.

E. A. Williams, deputy master of the Marion County Pomona grange, gave a report on the joint banquet of the deputy masters and matrons Wednesday at 6 p. m. at Hotel Harding.

Other reports were set aside for a meeting this afternoon. It was necessary to close the afternoon session at 3 p. m. in order that the deputies might witness the conferring of the fifth degree at the Star auditorium.

Entertainment was given the meeting by a male quartet from the Medina county grange.

A called meeting of the Deputy Matron's association today at 1 p. m. at the Elks rooms was announced. Both associations will meet Wednesday morning in separate groups in the Elks rooms.

STEPMOTHER FACES LIFE IMPRISONMENT

Mrs. O'Loughlin Convicted of Killing 10-Year-Old Girl.

By The Associated Press

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 9—Convicted of murdering her 10-year-old stepdaughter, Mrs. Pearl O'Loughlin today faced life imprisonment at hard labor in the Colorado state penitentiary.

The jury which heard the case of the 31-year-old step-mother deliberated an hour and 36 minutes last night.

With Mrs. O'Loughlin's alleged confession to police barred as evidence, the verdict carried with it an automatic penalty. Under Colorado law capital punishment can be imposed only where there is an eye-witness to the crime or a confession by the accused.

Laughing and joking with her attorney a moment before the jury filed into the box, Mrs. O'Loughlin listened intently but with no display of emotion as Judge Henry A. Calvert read the verdict.

In the front row of the spectators' section sat the woman's husband, Leo, a city detective whose life the state alleged she also sought. The husband flinched as the verdict was read.

The state was forced to rest its case without introducing the testimony of its key witness, Albert T. Clark, captain of detectives, who announced he had obtained admission of guilt from the defendant. In barring Clark's testimony the court ruled the so-called confession had been obtained by threats, coercion and promises.

The prosecution emphasized the alleged finding of glass in the stomachs of Leona and her father.

YOUNG OHIOAN KILLS WIFE, ENDS OWN LIFE

Jealousy Following Dance Blamed for Tragedy Near Carrollton.

By Brush-Moore Leased Wire

CARROLLTON, O., Dec. 9—Angered because his wife danced with a man he disliked at a social affair a week ago, Floyd Townes, 20, shot and killed her and then took his own life Monday.

The shooting took place on the farm of the dead girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Thompson, near Mechanicstown, where the couple had lived since their marriage in June on the day Mrs. Townes graduated from Carrollton High school.

Prior to shooting his wife, Townes quarreled with his father-in-law about the incident at the dance. He knocked Thompson down and then drove to Carrollton where he procured a revolver at the C. A. Tope hardware store.

Returning to the farm, he was attempting to force his way into a barn where Thompson had taken refuge, when his wife and mother-in-law interferred. Townes fired one shot which struck his wife in the ankle.

He helped Mrs. Thompson carry the wounded girl into the house and lay her on a bed. Then he fired a bullet through her head which caused instant death. He left the house and went to an orchard where he sent a bullet through his own head.

guilty Saturday when arraigned. Charles Seckel, 67, of Caledonia, who pleaded not guilty to charges of grand larceny and illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, is to be given a trial date this afternoon while Kermett Kunkle, who pleaded guilty to three burglary charges, will be sentenced this afternoon.

Committed For Thrill

In sentencing Robinson, the court told him the sentence might be commuted on good behavior out of respect to the youth's parents, who are well-known in the county.

"When you picked out a crime to commit for the sake of a thrill, you chose one whose penalty is exceeded only by the crimes of murder and bank robbery," Judge Scofeld told Robinson. "There wasn't any excuse for your crime." Robinson and Houston are accused of having held up, at the point of a shotgun, three young couples parked in a machine near the Grand Prairie township schoolhouse more than a month ago.

The court placed Roy Myers, who pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery, on probation for a year. It was Myers' first offense and after an investigation into his case the court suspended sentencing the youth.

Other trial dates set are as follows: Clayton Hartley, burglary of a railroad car, Dec. 12; Alva McEldowney, burglary of a railroad car, Dec. 17; William Dixon, grand larceny, Dec. 19, and Alfred Lamb, obtaining money under false pretenses, Dec. 30. L. E. Myers is attorney for both Hartley and McEldowney, and John H. Clark is counsel for Lamb. The court appointed Homer E. Johnson as attorney for Dixon.

Marion Lecture-Recital Club Presents Christmas Recital

A PROGRAM which brought with it an evening of real enjoyment to music patrons of the city was presented by the Marion Lecture Recital club in their annual Christmas gift recital last night at the First Presbyterian church. With the exception of a few seats at the extreme front, the auditorium and the entire balcony was filled with members of the club and their guests.

The club presented as guest artists Thomas H. Weber Jr., of Youngstown, organist, and John Lacey tenor, of this city, vocalist. Completing the program were two numbers by the ladies' chorus of the club and the procession of lights and the singing of a Christmas carol by members of the Junior Lecture-Recital club.

The program opened with a choral prelude by the chorus directed by Mrs. William Unger with Miss Melvina Summers at the piano. The chorus also presented a beautiful Christmas number, "The First Christmas," by Coerne, with Miss Madeline Dunlap and Mrs. Earl N. Hale singing the solo parts. The piano accompaniment was augmented by the organ with Mrs. Harry T. Williams presiding.

Mr. Webber's superb mastery of the organ and its resources brought out the beautiful tone qualities of the church organ and his selections were interspersed with the feeling and skill of the artist. His opening number was "Concert Overture in C Minor" by Hollins and for his second selection played Dethier's brilliant "Scherzo." Mr. Webber chose for his closing number a beautiful arrangement "Christmas" also by Dethier. He responded to an encore with "Scherzo," by Rogers.

Mr. Lacey whose singing is always a delightful part of any program chose for his opening group, "Invocavione di Orfeo," by Jacopo Peri and "Vision Fugitives" the aria from Massanet's opera, "Herodiade." Another number was "Child of Bethlehem," by Sumner Salter, and he responded to an encore with "Danny Boy." Mr. Lacey's accompaniment was played by Mrs. Lacey.

At the close of the program the church was darkened for the processional and the junior club and chorus sang "Silent Night." The benediction was spoken by Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, pastor of the church.

Mr. Webber played a short program of organ music this morning at the church, his audience including a group of musicians and music patrons who heard him last night.

While in the city Mr. Webber was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Earl N. Hale of East Church street.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Never Ending Search

For better ways to cut food prices

As food merchant to a nation, A&P bears a responsibility greater than that demanded of a mere trader in food. Selling food to great numbers of families involves the well-being of millions of people. Reducing the nation's food bill calls for more than the slashing of grocery prices.

It calls for everlasting watchfulness for better methods of food growing and producing, of shipping of handling and storing, of marketing and retailing food—command of every invention and every means known to man for assisting the flow of food from its sources to the store counter.

Because A&P assumes the entire task of bringing food from producer to consumer, its responsibility to the public is greater than if it performed but a small part. Its search for better methods must be never-ending. Its way of lowering the cost of food to the consumer must be the best.

A&P makes food prices low by the best methods of Today. A&P will keep food prices low by the best methods of Tomorrow.
